CONSTRUCTION SAFETY WEEK RECAP

Construction Safety Week is a time to pause, reflect, and recommit to keeping people safe. At Boise Cascade Millwork, safety is a core value and built into how we operate every day. From the shop floor to the jobsite, a strong safety culture takes consistency, awareness, and accountability. By following best practices and looking out for one another, we create stronger teams, better outcomes, and ensure everyone goes home safely each day.

Our Dallas Millwork team has plenty to be proud of. They were honored with a CEO Safety Excellence Award. This recognition celebrates teams that consistently prioritize safety in everything they do, from daily tasks to long-term decisions. Now in its sixth year, the award underscores how deeply safety is embedded in our culture and reinforces its role as a foundation of our success.
